Want Hatcheries And Larger Force

H. O. Smith, the newly appointed agent of Alaska salmon fisheries, under the United States bureau of fisheries, is making special efforts to get acquainted with the situation in Southeastern Alaska. From information gained already Mr. Smith says that he has a firm conviction that the bureau should pay more heed to the fishing industry of this section. He is particularly impressed with the need of more hatcheries and of the necessity for a larger field force especially during the canning season.

The well known canneryman from Excursion Inlet, Robert Bell, and Rowland Davis of the Tee harbor cannery have both declared themselves on the subject of obtaining more hatcheries immediately. Icy straits now produces the greater portion of reds taken in the waters of Southeastern Alaska and these waters will be depleted if some measure is not taken soon for keeping up the supply.

The sockeyes and other red salmon according to Mr. Bell spawn in this section from September 1 to October 1, and always seek a river with a lake or a number of lakes for its source. Their spawn is deposited in the small streams entering these lakes. For this reason Mr. Bell is in favor of hatcheries being established in both Chilcotin and Chilcat lakes near the head of Lynn canal. These lakes are the old and natural spawning grounds of the red salmon that enter the waters of Southeastern Alaska through Icy straits.

Another feature connected with the fishing industry that Mr. Bell wants to see adopted is a system of grading the product of the canneries, just as the product of other great packing plants in other sections of the country is graded. As matters now stand the entire output of Alaska is marketed on the lowest possible standard because the entire product is valued on the basis fixed for the poorest quality. Mr. Bell is in favor of rigid inspection, either by the federal or Territorial government to the end that less of the inferior quality of salmon will be canned and the standard of the Alaska product raised to the position it should enjoy.

Frisco Man May Buy Cannery

J. M. Haller of San Francisco is a local visitor. He is here in the interests of California capitalists who are considering taking over the Nakat cannery. Mr. Haller has chartered the Spray and will go down to the cannery as soon as weather conditions permit. Miner.

Death Accidental

Last Thursday morning the community was shocked at the news of the death of "Dick" Nystrom.

He was seen about 3 A. M. coming down the Hotel float where he had his gas launch the "Chinook" moored. Nystrom requested the master of the launch Kennebec to assist him in removing a boat which was tied on the outside of his craft.

Dick said that he was going to make an early start for the mouth of the Stikine River where he was fishing.

Soon after this conversation a loud report as if from a gun was heard but no attention was paid to it as the men thought it only a loud report of the exhaust.

A few hours later Nystrom's boat was seen in a swamped condition between the wharf and the float. Upon closer inspection the body of the deceased was seen in the forward part of the boat a short gun close at hand, his skull badly fractured.

A coroner's jury was held and the verdict was death by accidental shooting.

The deceased is well known in southeastern Alaska having followed the fishing industry for the past ten years.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon.

WICKERSHAM WILL BE A CANDIDATE AGAIN.

In declining to be a member of the Republican Congressional Committee, Delegate James Wickersham stated that he did not want to be placed in the attitude of supporting the Republican party in Alaska. He also stated that he expected to be a candidate to succeed himself in the next delegate election in Alaska.

Education Law In Force

During the session of the local legislator last spring an act was passed making the education of all children compulsory in Alaska. The law is now in force and it is up to the parents to observe and the officers to enforce.

Wins Float

The W. C. T. U. float was awarded first prize at Milwaukee—the great beer city, during the Perry Centennial.

Comes to Visit Friends

Mr. Mongnismie is ingethz proprietor of the Pioneer Hotel at Chatanooga Creek near the Fairbanks district, is visiting his sister Mrs. Ensley. He expects to return to his place of business by way of the new diggings at Shushanna in the early spring.

Editor Makes Deal

Richard Bushell Jr. paid Wrangell a visit and after attending to professional duties decided to pass his time shooting ducks on the flats. He chartered a boat and bought about a hundred rounds of ammunition and struck off towards the famous shooting grounds accompanied by local sportsmen. The Editor's companions had little trouble in bagging their limit, but the poor Editor, after tramping down the grass for a full ten hours returned to the launch with two sickly ducks, one of which Harry Gartley claims to have crippled. Just previous to the arrival of the Jefferson, Mr. Bushell was seen dickered with the butcher for the purchase of eight ducks for which he paid $1.75. These he packed aboard the Jefferson and when last seen was loudly proclaiming the advantage of owning an automatic. We hope that our contemporary will not say that he was the slayer of those ducks because the tag on the fowl read, "Eight ducks, $1.75 paid."

WATCH FOR THESE BILLS

The discovery of three counterfeit national bank notes, one of them regarded as a dangerous deception, was announced tonight by W. H. Moran, acting chief of the United States secret service.

The cleverest counterfeit is an imitation of the $10 issue of the Second national bank of Baltimore.

The other two counterfeits are a $5 note on the American national bank of Nashville, Tenn., and a $10 note on the Wisconsin national bank of Milwaukee.

Shushanna Locator Gets Lucky Strike

A returned Cordovan reported that Joe McClellan made a great strike on No. 3 above Discovery on Bonanza creek. He cleaned up $3,000 with five men in two days' sluicing operations, according to Wood. The largest nugget to be found in the district was found on this claim the other day. It was valued at $400.00.

Ohio Man Breaks Rifle Record

Capt. W. H. Richard, of Ohio, broke the world's record for consecutive bull's eye at 2000 yards range and a 16-inch target. He scored 23 hits without a miss.

New Hostelry Opens In Juneau

From the size of the announcements of the opening of the new Alaskan Hotel in Juneau which took place this week, P. L. Gemmet is certainly opening under the most pleasing conditions.

Free ferry service was maintained from 6:00 o'clock until 1:45 in the morning for the accommodation of the residents of Sheep Creek, Treadwell and Douglas, and the ladies were invited to inspect the perfect appointment of the hotel.

The furnishing of the new hotel is the most complete in Alaska, having steam heat, electric lights, telephones in every room, grill tables, writing rooms, wireless telegraph station, ladies retiring and waiting rooms, public baths, bar and wine cellars, rooms single or ensuite with private baths, cold storage, plant, sample rooms for commercial men, stenographer and a perfectly appointed ladies' and gents' grille which is under the personal supervision of A. T. Spatz, cafe caterer, formerly of the Hotel Butler Grill, Seattle.

Capt. Burke, who was badly burned in the Irene Barnes explosion recently, was seen on the street today for the first time.

Alaska Third In Gold Production

The total gold output of the United States for the year 1912 was $93,500,000 according to a statement issued today by the director of the mint. Alaska ranked third among the American commonwealths in gold production, its contribution being $15,108,600.

Colorado continues to rank first in gold production; California is second, and Nevada fourth.

Soldier Drowns When Raft Capsizes

Last Saturday a company of five soldiers from K company, 30th Infantry U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Seward, left Wells for the return to Maipes from a hunting trip, and decided to build a raft and float down the Chilcat.

The raft was constructed and safely launched and the party started down the river. All went well until the 14-mile post was reached, where the raft struck a snag in the river and upset, throwing the men into the cold, madly rushing waters.

All of the party were able to swim with the exception of Private Gallagher, who recently returned from San Francisco, where he had been sent for medical care, and not being in the best of health, and unable to cope with the strong current of the river at this point, was drowned before his comrades could save him.

A detail was immediately despatched from the post to look for the drowned man, but up to the time the Peterson left this morning no trace was found. A detail of four men will be kept continually on the watch patrolling the river, near the point where the man was drowned in the hopes that his body may be recovered.

Sentinel To Change Hands

Well were back on the job again and this time for good. While away closed two important deals, one for the Wrangell Sentinel and the other for a life partner.

From now on the Sentinel will be published as heretofore except that we aim to work harder than ever to give to Wrangell the paper that she deserves.

Wrangell is entering the most prosperous area of her existence and never before has her prospects been more bright. While we are not in what could be called a newspaper boom, but much better a steady growth that is fast putting her up among the first cities of Southeastern Alaska, and from the growth that is apparent on every hand it is with the knowledge that we are in a real coming town that we cast our lot in Wrangell, and to say that we are glad to be here is but feebly expressing it.

It is only with the help of every person in Wrangell that the Sentinel can be made the paper it should be and for that reason I ask your help in the way of any local items of news.

Yours,

PAUL F. STANHOPE

A shipment of tin ore valued at $40,000 was recently brought down from Nome by the steamship Navajo.

The Panama Canal

On September 26 an electric wire will let the current into the Panama Canal.

The completion of this huge ditch will forever stand a monument to the United States as a nation typical in its commercial aggression.

Just what benefit Alaska will derive from its opening is at this early date hard to foresee, yet it is safe to prophesy that the opening of an all-water route to the Pacific Coast will not be without its good results even to a land as distant as Alaska.

The preparation made by all the important ports from Halifax to Rio Janeiro on the Atlantic and from Vancouver to Valparaiso on the Pacific ocean, the vast amount of money spent in extensive harbor and dock improvement, the many new vessels building for the canal trade only goes to show that Alaska will be greatly benefited by this shortened route.

The cheapness of water transportation will bring the Alaska merchant in closer relation with the great eastern markets of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the rates on merchandise will no longer be computed by the hundred pounds by the ton.

Competitive steamship lines will no doubt be the means of giving Alaska an improved shipping service bringing more people to the great Northland and exploiting its great resources.

The 26th should be an open season to the bottled up Alaska.

NOTIFIES DOCTORS AND PREACHERS OF DUTY

Gen. W. L. Distin, secretary of the Territory of Alaska, who was also made registrar of vital statistics by an act of the recent legislature, has prepared a circular letter, which he is sending to all those whose duty it was made by the act referred to to compile all the records they have and to co-operate in preparing for record statistics of births, deaths, and marriages, explaining to them their duties in the premises.

The circular referred to is as follows:

"Your attention is invited to the Act of the first session of the legislature of the Territory of Alaska, approved April 25, 1913, entitled, "An Act to Require the Registration of Vital Statistics in the Territory of Alaska, and for other Purposes," which provides that a record shall be made and preserved of all births, deaths and marriages occurring within the Territory and names the ex-official Secretary of Alaska to act as Registrar; who, as such Registrar shall cause blank certificates to be printed of Marriages, to be furnished to the Clerks of the District Courts; to the United States Commissioners; to physicians, barbers, and undertakers, and to other persons. The forms are now in course of printing and when received the same will be furnished upon application therefor.

"The said Act requires any and all persons in possession of statistics relating to births, death and marriages, to compile all such records and transmit them to the Territorial Registrar of Vital Statistics, Juneau, Alaska, as provided by section 11 of the said Act, which reads, as follows: 'It shall be, and hereby is made the duty of all recorders in the Territory of Alaska, and the Clerks of all municipalities in the Territory, and of all ministers of the Gospel, York Words.'

for a man who has been the candidate of the Bull-Moosers for President, that is a fine remark of Theodore Roosevelt to the effect that without exception the Sioux Indians are "the most interesting people in the world." How about Perkins, the Territorial of Alaska, and Garfield, Pinchot, McCormick, the Clerks of all municipalities in the Territory, and of all ministers of the Gospel, York Words?

Alaska Coal Good

Dr. J. O. Downey, disbursing officer of the United States navy, who for more than a year has been studying the Bering river coal fields, will recommend that the department endeavor to have the government create a coal reserve for the exclusive use of the United States navy. No matter what the report of the Maryland test might be Dr. Downey is convinced that there is a large field of good coal in the Bering district. This reserve may be in two tracts and will be limited in extent. It will not in any way interfere with any rights that have been obtained in the field, nor will it in any way detract from the use of the field for commercial enterprises. No reservation will be made till the status of the land and all claims thereto are settled beyond controversy.

The naval expert confirms the story that the coal which was mined for the Maryland test contains a large and unnecessary percentage of rock, shale, bone, earth and other extraneous matter, and that the coal had been allowed to absorb moisture.

WILL RUN TWO NEW BOATS TO SKAGWAY

Mr. W. B. Close, chairman of the board of directors of the White Pass & Yukon Route, has made the announcement that the company will have two new, fast steamers in the coastwise service between Vancouver and Skagway next year. The vessels will be modern in every particular and will cater to the freight and passenger trade. This move on the part of the company is believed to be an outcome of the rate war between the White Pass Route and the Northern Commercial Company, in the Yukon and Alaskan territory.

MEMBER OSPREY CREW IS MISSING

It is believed that Alfred Thomas, assistant engineer aboard the U. S. fisheries boat Osprey has fallen overboard and was drowned. He has been missing since 11 o'clock on the night of September 4th. The last seen of him was at the hour mentioned. He came down to the C. W. Young pier and float where the Osprey was tied and sang out for someone on board to put the ladder out for him so he could come aboard. Captain Hofstad was awakened and coming out of his cabin sang out for him to "go down on the float and pull the stern of the Osprey over by the line as the tide was so low that it would not reach to the top of the dock." Also stating that the other members of the crew had done so. Thomas answered: "All right," and Capt. Hofstad went back to bed. There has been nothing seen of Thomas since that moment. It is feared that he fell overboard in attempting to gain the deck of the Osprey. Earlier in the day Thomas had been seen under the influence of liquor. He had borrowed four dollars from Chief Engineer Gjoen, two of which had been used to redeem a $30 watch that was in pawn somewhere. He had no money beyond this and his pay checks, already mentioned, are still aboard the ship. If he is alive it is surprising that he does not show up. —Empire.

The new halibut schooner Sitka, built in Seattle, was launched Aug. 30th, and will make her first trip to the banks probably this month. The schooner which will cost when completed, about $18,000, is owned by Capt. Johansen, former Master of the Clopeck Fish company's vessel, Chicago; and Peter E. Another halibut schooner of the same dimensions as the Sitka, launched Aug. 30, is being built at Seattle, and will be launched about the middle of October. The schooner which is 85 feet long, 18 1-2 feet wide and has a 10 foot depth, is being built for Captain Larson, former owner of the schooner Washington which he has sold. The vessel will have a 90,000 pound capacity. She will be equipped with a 110 h. p. Atalas.
